

What is Cyclic Vomiting Syndrome?

Cyclic Vomiting Syndrome (CVS) is an unexplained disorder of children and adults that was first discovered by Dr. S. Gee in 1882. The condition is characterized by recurrent, prolonged attacks of severe nausea, vomiting, and prostration with no apparent cause. Vomiting occurs at frequent intervals (5-10 times an hour at the peak) for hours to 10 days (1-4 most commonly). The person returns to their normal health between episodes.

Symptoms

Episodes may begin at any time, but often start during early morning hours. There is relentless nausea with repeated bouts of vomiting or retching. The person is pale, listless, and resists talking. They often drool or spit and have extreme thirst. They may experience intense abdominal pain, and less often headache, low-grade fever, and diarrhea. Prolonged vomiting may cause mild bleeding from irritation of the esophagus. One mother aptly described her child's state as a "conscious coma". The symptoms are frightening to the person and family and can lead to severe dehydration and electrolyte imbalance.

Cyclic Vomiting Syndrome Association Mission Statement

CVSA is a volunteer organization founded in 1993 by parents and professionals with the following purposes: "CVSA raises awareness and provides education and support to those affected by cyclic vomiting, abdominal migraine and related disorders while advocating for and funding research."

This event will help fund CVSA's important initiatives, which include:

- Provide Doctor referrals for sufferers across the nation/world
- Educating ER Doctors about CVS signs and treatments
- Increasing CVS awareness among physicians as well as the general public
- Establishing adult and pediatric guidelines for the treatment and diagnosis of CVS
- Sponsor research symposiums for clinicians and scientists
